

SARAH BATES

Innovation will rise where there is collaboration, conflict and passion.

NELLY BEN HAYOUN, FUTURE EVERYTHING 2016

Sarah Bates is a passionate graphic designer, committed to exploring data storytelling through visualisation. Her research has taken an interdisciplinary approach, investigating opportunities for effective collaboration between creativity and healthcare.

'Trials of Engagement' uses research data as a start-point to visually explore themes running through clinical research experiences, resulting in engaging and positive responses for display in the research setting at Leeds Teaching Hospitals. The focus is originality and uniqueness, to break away from the staid and vapid.
